A Farewell to the Sabbath Day.

Farewell! sweet Sabbath of the Lord, farewell!
Thy sun's last beams are shed on mount and dell;
And dimly in the west
Day's rosy mantle only may be seen,
While stars gleam out its fluttering folds between—
Farewell, bright day of rest.

To-morrow's earthly toils begin once more!
Thy hours of peace, thy hours of prayer are o'er;
The conflict and the strife,
The joys that tempt the grief so hard to bear,
The rush of business, the weight of care
Must come to darken life.

Yet shall remembrance of thy calm repose,
First round me oft like odors of the rose;
And peace and rest shall come!

A Sabbath peace even in the midst of strife,
A Sabbath rest amid the toil of life,
And make this heart their home.

How like a fountain in the wild wilderness,
To sinful man is such a day as this!
Or like the Sabbath God,
The shadow of a rock in weary lands,
A refuge from the storms and burning sands,
An ark above the flood.

Farewell! sweet Sabbath of the Lord, farewell!
The stars are shining now on mount and dell;
Thy dawning to my eyes
Seemed bright and heavenly as an angel's wings,
When bending low before his God, he sings
The song of Paradise.

Farewell, once more accept my lowly lay,
E'en now as passing from the world away!
Thou passest with a smile,
And give me something of their own repose,
And give me strength to bear life's weight of woes
Yet but a little while.

HANNIBAL, Sunday night, May 29th, 1853.

As Father Morris was walking thro' a parish famous for its profanity, he was stopped by a whole flock of the youthful reprobates of the place. "Father Morris! Father Morris! the devil's dead!"—"Is he?" said the old man benignly laying his hand on the head of the nearest urchin, "You poor fatherless children!"

George W. Houston, of Caroline county, Va., has a calf with two heads. It eats with either mouth.

M. P. Goodrich, George Glenn, Wm. Gosney, and J. R. Abernathy, are candidates for the clerkship of the Circuit Court, and Wm. N. Penn, and Geo. W. Cunningham, for the same office in the Monroe county Court.

FLOATING DAGUERREAN GALLERY.—We visited the Floating Daguerrean Gallery, of Messrs. Brainard & Lambert, (lying at the wharf,) this afternoon, and can say that the specimen likenesses which we examined are as good as any we ever saw. The most delicate expression of the countenance is perfectly counterfeited. The skylight facilities are very superior, and those giving the "Gallery" a call, will be well pleased.

At Bonville, on the 21st, the horses attached to the Western stage, ran away, upsetting the stage and bruising several passengers and the driver—the latter was so badly injured that his life is despaired of.—[Paris Mercury.]
